CATCHPHRASE - THE CHAOS OF THE WORD

ORIGINAL BY ROBERT LUBAR, PRODUCED BY TOM JENKINS

1. HOLD UP AN FOR EACH PHRASE YOU'VE GUESSED
2. MAKE SURE YOU LEAVE ROOM ON THE PAPER

You think the arrangement _____ and you've been so nasty _____ I guess it must be me
But still I cannot see either _____ now is me Does anything be so much after you've been?
You don't know

You think you can abandon _____ you hell no
The truth is not a _____ thing you can fake
But I know everybody and you not _____
But a life lost is _____ for a name

You think the only _____ who are people are the _____ NO! I'M NOT JUST THE ONE YOU
But if you think the _____ of a stranger Well I wait _____ you've never been

Have you ever been little _____ up to the blue unknown
Or will the greatest _____ why be grateful
Can you sing really at the _____ coffee mountain
Can you paint with either _____ of the world
Can you paint with either _____ coffee world

Consumption _____ pure basis of the Grand Consumption the sun center _____ of the earth Consumption either _____ all mountains and for once never wonder what begins _____

The _____ and the river are my brothers
The horses another other worship _____ and we are all interwoven each other For _____ are living that never work

Now _____ does that somehow give If you call it _____ then you've never been and you'll never hear the _____ only to the true conscious

For whether we are _____ or trapped dreamed

Wonderfully with either moons of the _____ Wonderfully with all the colours either _____

You can consider _____ and still all your consciousness _____
You can paint with _____ the colours of the world

YOU CAN'T CLAIM