
In this sentence, where is a relative adverb (where = in which). The clause it introduces is an adjective clause, not an adverb clause. It modifies the noun housing. Housing is an ordinary noun, not a gerund. Moons is an adverbial objective modifying the adverb ago. One can also construe ago as an adjective modifying moons.