

As you read:

10. Skim through the text and do tasks 1 and 2.

Task 1. Read the text.

Over 17 years of research by some social experts in the 1980s and 1990s led to the idea of what is now called the "Big Five" or "Five Factor Model" of personality. This model suggests that there are five broad dimensions of personality, and the personality is based on the way that the world is able to be seen, felt, and acted upon. The "Big Five" model is based on the work of the psychologist Paul T. P. and the psychologist Paul T. P.

The model was very different. The study of some of the "Big Five" model led to the idea of what is now called the "Big Five" or "Five Factor Model" of personality. This model suggests that there are five broad dimensions of personality, and the personality is based on the way that the world is able to be seen, felt, and acted upon. The "Big Five" model is based on the work of the psychologist Paul T. P. and the psychologist Paul T. P.

11. Read the text and do the following tasks:
11.1. Read the text and do the following tasks:
11.2. Answer the following questions according to the text.

Task 11.1. Choose the sentence that best suits as a general idea for the reading passage.

- a. A group of 17 people investigated personality.
- b. A group of 17 people investigated the way that the world is able to be seen, felt, and acted upon.
- c. A group of 17 people investigated the way that the world is able to be seen, felt, and acted upon.

Task 11.2. Give a title to the text.

11.2. Answer the following questions according to the text.

Task 11.3. Answer the following questions according to the text.

- a. What was the name of the psychologist who led the study?
- b. Why was the study conducted in the 1980s and 1990s?
- c. In what way did the study lead to the idea of the "Big Five" model?
- d. What is the main purpose of the study?

Task 11.4. Find in the text words that match the following definitions.

- a. person who investigated personality (1)
- b. the way that the world is able to be seen, felt, and acted upon (2)
- c. the main purpose of the study (3)
- d. the capital city of Illinois (4)