The History of "CIO"

CIO was first applied in the late 1990s. Before that year, each university selected its students _____ some criteria. However, with the increasing number of youth and the overloaded applications, the universities gathered and founded the Higher Education _____, and a subdivision named OSYM, "Student Selection and Placement Center". The name of this organ was doubtful in the CIO. The name was changed. In _____ the Council of Ten years that changed to YÖKSIS and the big change took place. The number of the students were increasing then, _____ from CIO and OYSS. If a student did not _____ the operational grade in YÖKSIS, he/she had lost the right to enter YÖKSIS anymore, but he/she could be accepted to a university. That opinion continued until 1999. The date when OYSS was dropped and only CIO was left, including many formal and informal questions.
