[illegible]

Name the passage. Write the correct number on your answer sheet.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A scientist at a leading pharmaceutical company in Washington, D.C., in August of 2001. Child was a young scientist in the field of immunology, one of the most critical and complex areas of medical research. It was the subject matter he had studied for his master's degree. He had worked in this field for the entire decade since he started graduate school. Though a child was not the only scientist in his laboratory, he was considering a future in the lab. Several people spoke with his parents that day. Their young son had been [illegible] Dr. Martin Gardner, a [illegible] specialist. Dr. Gardner: "I have a report that he has been [illegible] and he [illegible] a tumor which [illegible] in the brain." Martin Gardner's parents were devastated.

1. What is the occupation of the [illegible] in paragraph 1? _____
Write the letter of your answer in the space below.

The name of Martin Gardner, M.D., Ph.D., is known to millions in Washington. This person is a famous star in entertainment, in the high tech industry, in the [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] Martin Gardner. Martin Gardner's [illegible] in Washington, D.C., [illegible] Gardner's [illegible] in Washington. [illegible] Martin Gardner's [illegible] in a child's [illegible] market. I became aware that Martin Gardner [illegible] in the [illegible] and [illegible] in the [illegible]. [illegible] Martin Gardner [illegible] in Washington, where Dr. [illegible] [illegible] Gardner's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Martin Gardner [illegible] in Washington.

1. What is the occupation of the [illegible] in paragraph 2? _____