Source Cards

For each source that you have and are planning on using in your research paper, you must complete a source card. On each source card you will put the media cited citation, as well as a source number. Source cards not only tell you know what source your information was taken from, but they will also be used later on the process to help complete your works cited page. Keep all your source cards together and in a safe place. Losing a source card will make it difficult for you to do your bibliography and works cited page and will lead to lie mistakes.

Example Source Card

_____ 1 ← Source Number

McMenamin, Edward. Oxford Englishes. New York: Oxford

_____

Publishing Company, 1998.

_____

_____

_____

_____

← Library Call Number (Dewey Decimal number) _____ 808.24 ← Book Call Number

On each source card you will include:

1. Source Number (upper right corner)
2. Bibliography (Look in handouts use every other line)
3. Library Call Number (left corner – usually DEWEY)
4. Check Source Only – call number (bottom right corner)

Bibliography

Use your MLA style guide and Bibliography Templates as a guideline.

Use your MLA style guide and Bibliography Templates to help (know you have finished your research and are sure what sources you will be using you will transfer the information onto actual note cards. For the time being, complete your source card info on the index cards on the attached handouts.
