NAME: DATE:

Good VS Bad SOCIAL SKILLS

Having Good social skills means that you do things that make people enjoy being around you.
Poor social skills means that your behaviors make others not want to be around you.
Read the examples and write in a "G"ood or "P"oor in the box to match!

- ☐ Waiting patiently for your turn during a group game
- ☐ Laughing at someone when they make a mistake
- ☐ Looking at the teacher while they are giving directions
- ☐ Saying "I'm sorry" when you accidentally bump into a classmate
- ☐ Taking items off someone else's desk without asking
- ☐ Cheering for your friend when they get a good grade or win
- ☐ Raising your hand before speaking in the classroom
- ☐ Rolling your eyes when someone asks you for help
- ☐ Inviting a classmate who is sitting alone to join your lunch table
- ☐ Using a calm and quiet voice while working in the library
- ☐ Pushing your way to the front of the line at recess
- ☐ Listening to someone else's idea even if you disagree with it
- ☐ Helping a classmate pick up dropped books or art supplies
- ☐ Slamming doors or throwing objects when feeling frustrated
- ☐ Saying "Thank you" when someone holds the door open for you
- ☐ Whispering secrets to a friend while another person is present
- ☐ Giving personal space and keeping hands to yourself
- ☐ Asking "Are you okay?" when you notice someone feeling sad