

The subject of the sentence tells who or what the sentence is about.

Subject Surprises!

Matching subjects to predicates

Draw lines connecting the subject with a predicate phrase to form sentences that make sense.

1. CJ and Edison	Example	A. are my favorite colors.
2. Red and blue		B. must find the jewels.
3. McCloud		C. changes the locks.
4. Our class		A. stung me.
5. The bee		B. likes recess.
6. Dr. Lurid		C. wants the jewels.
7. My dad		A. flew by.
8. The spider		B. go to the movies.
9. The pretty butterfly		C. lost his hat.
10. She and I		D. built a web.

eg Says!

Ask your child to find five sentences in a magazine or newspaper and color the subject phrase in each sentence with a highlighter pen. For an extra challenge, cut out the sentences and cut away the subject phrase. Have your child glue the remaining parts of the sentences on a sheet of paper. Then have her write a new subject for each sentence.