Course Description

This class provides an emphasis on developing a detailed understanding and a foundation of skills of Dialectical Behavioral Therapy (DBT) when working with mental health and substance abuse clients. DBT is an empirically validated approach for working with addictions, dual diagnosis and mental health clients. It is designed to assist clients in establishing emotional regulation, interpersonal effectiveness, distress tolerance and mindfulness skills. This approach was developed by Marsha Linehan, Ph.D. at the University of Washington. DBT assists clinicians in working with challenging clients with suicidal issues, self harm potential and dramatic interpersonal styles. DBT is a therapeutic approach that is compatible with many therapeutic modalities such as CBT, Client Centered and Strength based approaches. This course will explore the theoretical basis for this approach, practice of specific DBT interventions and how to work with challenging clients. This course will have a strong experiential component that will directly apply to clinical work.

Course objectives:

1. Explore basic structure and philosophy of DBT.
2. Critically analyze Marsha Linehan, Ph.D role playing engaging a client in DBT treatment.
3. To develop knowledge and skills about how to utilize DBT with clients
4. To learn and practice the specific techniques of DBT. This will include interpersonal effectiveness, mindfulness, distress tolerance and emotions regulations.
5. Evaluate the role of countertransference in the treatment of challenging clients.
6. Explore the importance of therapist self-care in the DBT treatment process.

Course Assignments:

Participation (25 points):

This will be the most important part of your grade. It is expected that you will actively participate through out the days of class. For all of us to get the most out of the class it is necessary that we practice the knowledge and skills we are learning. We will be participating in role plays and discussions about treatment issues.

Attendance & Readings (25 points)

Attendance and completing the readings is also an integral component of the class discussion. Therefore it will be expected that you will attend every class along with being prepared to discuss the readings for that week. Missing more than one hour of class will result in a lower grade. Between the first and second day of class you will read the following chapters in Skills Training Manual: Chapter 1 through Chapters 5
