

Name: _____

Deer

There are about 100 different types of Deer. Deer live in all parts of the World except for Australia and Antarctica. Deer are the only animals that have antlers. Usually the males are the only types of deer that have antlers with the exception of the Caribou. Female Caribou have antlers as well. Antlers are not the same thing as horns on animals. Antlers will shed once a year and will grow back again, however, if an animal loses their horns they will never grown back again.
