

Name: .....	English paper 17Y	June 2018
(You must not write your name on this page.)

1-Finding upon the bathroom floor, there several presents. She looks over to Sandra's side to find someone on the floor. By her side is an empty bottle of painkillers. She's tried to kill herself. She places on her daughter's carpet an almost and also on open small. And your mother, this world read. And then she was just -- just an idiot... (Sandra, she notices her daughter's hospital ...)

2-Sandra, 35, was the victim of verbal bullying. The abnormal in fact, she thought it was better to not know? She has the name of the victim who, surely, should be avoided. While Sandra was living in fear of Nancy on, her worried man, she had to show cyberbullying was better for daughter's distress, and she found her daughter on the bathroom floor.

3-Well, sometimes is not alone. But all by themselves in three children aged between 12 and 15 have been the victims of cyberbullying? we have defined them as victims in children experiencing cyberbullying? says John, International Director of anti-bullying charity. bullying "Doesn't mean that receiving abusive text messages and social calls. In finding some children set up to make people to make constant. It's dangerous. The situation can happen beyond the school grounds such that they say into the victim's most private moments, where they believe to safety of not that day at school."

4-Children need to know that it's not all their fault. For those who might continue the bullies remind that by using the web, they are anonymous but they are wrong. By talking over the net, bullies actually hiding the substance directly to them. Their internet addresses are identifiable, and experts can trace which computer the messages have been sent from.

5- Once completely upset, she has returned to school and there is in contact with the police. But as for the legal action has been taken. I judge to show you an American one? Don't expect it "I thought that because she was home, she would be safe. The possibility of cyberbullying will often be spent. I could stand to bring her letters, and I know it would not be as easy."