

Let's talk about CANADA

Canada is part of North America. A long time ago, Canada belonged to Great Britain. Over time, parts of the country joined together and wanted to form their own government.

The word "Canada" comes from the aboriginal word "Kanata" which means village. A village is a small community, but Canada is anything but small! Canada is a very big country. In fact, it is the second largest country (by area) in the world.

There are 10 provinces and 3 territories in Canada. The leader of Canada is called the Prime Minister.

This country is famous for its beautiful landscapes. You can visit the Rocky Mountains and the Great Lakes there and see a lot of kinds of animals.

Some symbols of Canada are the beaver and the maple leaf.
