

Ecological Pyramids and Food Web Worksheet
Using the internet and your notes, answer the following questions.

1. Describe in detail what a Pyramid of Numbers is. Why is it useful when used in ecological studies?

2. Sometimes a pyramid of numbers can be “inverted”. Using a specific example explain how.

3. Describe in detail what a Pyramid of Biomass is. What advantages does it have over a pyramid of numbers when studying an ecosystem?

4. Sometimes a pyramid of biomass can be “inverted”. Using a specific example explain how.

5. Describe in detail what a Pyramid of Energy Flow is. Why can't this pyramid be inverted?

Answer the following Questions on a separate sheet of paper.

- Answer Questions 1 and 5 on page 17