

6

Two empty rectangular boxes for writing answers.

Did you learn any other new words?

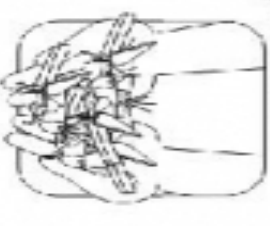

locust scorpion

sting

FROM MOM

Aesop's Fables

He caught so many locusts that there was a bigger one... What would he do?

5

Three horizontal lines for writing an answer.

What did you learn from the story?

Aesop's Fables

The Boy and the Locusts

Original translated by: George F. Townsend

Illustration reference by: Fatma Abdullah

4

On his way home, he saw a scorpion. He thought it was a big locust and wanted to catch it. When he got closer, he saw its sting and pulled his hand back. The scorpion said to him: "If you had but touched me, my friend, you would have bit me, and all your locust tools-

Aesop's Fables

Picture © iStockphoto

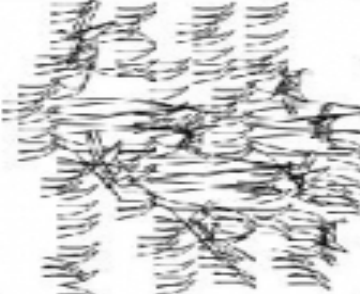

Aesop is a Greek man. He wrote many short stories to give advice. Most of his stories are about animals and beasts.

Fable: a short false story with a moral

1

3

The boy was good at hunting. He caught so many locusts. His bag was full of locusts. With no more space in his bag, he decided to go home and show them to his friends later.

Once upon time, there was a boy who loved hunting locusts. He went to the fields where locusts were hiding between the long fine grass and jumping freely.

2