

Nervous System: brain, spinal cord, and nerves

Information in the form of electrochemical signals pass back and forth between the brain and all parts of the body along a complex network of nerves branching from the spinal cord.

