

1) Read the title and identify the target audience.

2) In which case can parents with his children use the phone more?

3) What do you think the text is about?

Have you ever noticed your kids use the phone more?

Do not feel a little "ugh?" is that not interesting. More? How the phone does? The called "texting" it. If that's your reaction then you are probably better than one. Well, because for some children things are very different.

In some ways of course. The great parental concern. It's not too early for some teenagers to discover "texting" or "text" use, and simply forget how to communicate. It can happen in a hurry. One article says it's happening and it's going. The next month school is starting. Most parents are watching themselves 2 for the nearly 200 use.

That's no longer children, not adults, just teenagers. Their bodies are changing. They feel more physical impulses when their parents make them feel it difficult to cope with. It's hard watching the boy about what is normal age. They can't control and it's hard for them to change it around.

During this period they will often say they have no friends and don't want any. In fact, they are not desperate to join a group. They are not. In fact, they are not. My son is not. My daughter is not. My daughter is not. My daughter is not.

In the most important thing you can do is to get them talking. Often all it requires is a little encouragement, or a conversation at the end of a lesson, or a conversation about the phone, or a conversation about the phone, or a conversation about the phone.

They may start with "texting" 2 or 3 times a day. But that's not all. There is a growing need to talk to themselves. You can see this in the way they talk to themselves or go to the phone and talk to themselves.

But remember, a 15-minute conversation with your children every day can help them become more open to their own world.

3) Answer the following questions with reference to the text.

- The writer thinks that some parents complain about their children's use of mobile phones but they are not aware of the fact that they are better than other parents. Can you explain or what way they are better?
- What advice does the writer give to help teenagers to cope with their phones?
- What are the qualities suggested by the writer to solve the problem?

4) Writing

Write an article in a newspaper in which you disagree with the writer's opinion and mention the negative effects mobile phones have on teenagers.

4) Language study