

Name _____

Date _____

Exercise 1: Structure of a Paragraph (Writing Activity)

Name:

Topic of Paragraph (A)	Paragraph Structure (B)	Paragraph (C)
(I) Paper Machine (Direct introduction about paper machine support (topic sentence) - details)	(I) Direct Introduction (II) Support Detail (III) Support Detail (IV) Support Detail (V) Support Detail	Introduction - get your reader interested Thesis Statement - approach your topic Introduction main point (I) First support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I) Second support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I) Third support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I)
(II) General Introduction	(I) General Introduction (II) Support Detail (III) Support Detail (IV) Support Detail (V) Support Detail	Introduction main point (I) First support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I) Second support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I)
(III) Short Introduction	(I) Short Introduction (II) Support Detail (III) Support Detail (IV) Support Detail (V) Support Detail	Introduction main point (I) First support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I) Second support: details explain point (II) Give information or an example about detail (I) Give more information about detail (I)
(IV) Conclusion	(I) Conclusion	Review your previous, but expand it - add your reader what you think about Give a lesson to learn your reader with a good thing, or learn your reader with something to look about