

Name _____

Date _____

Exercise 1: Structure of a Paragraph (Writing Activity)

Name:

Topic of Paragraph (A)	Paragraph Structure (B)	Topic Sentences (C)
(I) Topic Sentence (Direct support detail quotation and support detail and topic sentence)	(I) Direct Support Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180 Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180	Attention – get your reader interested Topic Sentence – establish your topic Attention span point A First support detail regular point A Give information or an example about detail B Give more information about detail C Second support detail regular point A Give information or an example about detail B Give more information about detail C
(II) General Subject	(II) General Subject Point Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180 Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180	Attention span point A First support detail regular point B Give information or an example about detail B Give more information about detail C Second support detail regular point B Give information or an example about detail B Give more information about detail C
(III) Point Sentence	(III) Point Sentence Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180 Colleague Detail at 180-180 to 180-180	Attention span point B First support detail regular point C Give information or an example about detail C Give more information about detail B Second support detail regular point C Give information or an example about detail C Give more information about detail B
(IV) Conclusion	(IV) Conclusion	Recap your previous, but expand it – all your reader that paragraph about topic sentence to have your reader with a conclusion, so they can read with confidence to have about