

Snow Possessives

Possessives use apostrophes to show belonging.
For example: The first snow of the winter.
Winter's first snow.

The arms that belong to the snowman	The Snowman's arms
The eyes that belong to the snowman
The scarf that belongs to mom
The belt that belongs to my brother
The hat that belongs to dad
The mittens that belong to sister
The earmuffs that belong to grandma
The carrots that belong to the farmer
The buttons that belong to grandpa	