zombies protest library closures

a small group of zombies marched down broadway ave in oakhurst California on Friday to protest the closure of branch librariys across town. "Fewer librariys means fewer people reading, our outspoken zombie explained to reporters. "fewer people reading means fewer big brains for us to eat." The zombies turned out to be a group of students from lakeside middle school. They were dressed as zombies to have fun while increasing public awareness for there cause. a large crowd gathered on the side walk to watch the zombies. People clapped and cheered in support. Many of them joined the students as they marched to city hall. the mayor of oakhurst came out to talk to the protesters. She agreed to meet with the students on monday morning. "Public librariys are important, she told the them. If we all work together maybe we can find a way to keep our librariys from closing."
