

EXAMPLE OF RELATED CLAUSE

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.
It may begin with a pronoun or a subject.
It may end with a verb, a noun, or a preposition.
It may also be a clause which is dependent on the main clause.
It may be a clause which is dependent on the main clause.
It may be a clause which is dependent on the main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.

RECOMBILANACE CLAUSE: This is the clause which may be either a main clause.