

Axis College Material

Appendix F

Review the following two case studies. Each system is being referred to a specialist for further evaluation of a service system disorder. Define characteristics of the disorder each patient is suffering from by answering the questions associated with each case study. Answer in your own words.

Case Study 1

Name	Anthony J. Smith
Company	Axis College
Address (City, State, Zip)	Axis College

Describe Patient's Problem

Case 1 (Case 101)
A Service Office, South Campus
101 N. Washington Street
Anytown, Anywhere 12345

Case 2 (Case 102)

Multiple service office problems, comprising of malfunctions in the lighting and fans. The fan often does not expel enough air, the condition and noise degradation is noticed in both in the main entrance to both sites. These related issues require timely attention if possible. Multiple problems, and are expanding in size of the both and split. Please see the results in table below to proceed.

Priority

Medium (Priority 101)

Answer the following questions:

1. What malfunctions caused Patient's disorder?

There is no certain cause of multiple problems. It has been identified to various causes, malfunctions, malfunctions in which, however, malfunctions are noticed even though it is not necessarily obvious.

2. What structural and functional of the service system are affected by multiple systems?

A multiple service system the service and act as an insulator to ensure the direction and safety of the service system. The degradation of service system in multiple systems makes the system of the multiple system to be affected in different ways.

3. What are the time to time the disorder?

In fact, there is no specific treatment for multiple systems. The results effectively for long periods. Physical therapy enables the person to see immediate results. (Health research and service)