

DIFFERENT PARTS OF A THEATRE

gallery - box - balcony - orchestra pit - the stalls - side - circle - auditorium stage - the wings - footlights box	lights that light the audience stage	the part of a theatre where people sit, audience, or the people who have come to watch a performance - audience gallery box	rooms (usually balconies) are located above the audience for when they go to sleep footlights	are area from which the performers watch the play that work to separate the stage orchestra	musicians and other people involved with the audience when they watch the audience