

Cirrus Clouds

appear at high altitudes above 18,000 feet as thin, wispy strands and tufts. Cirrus clouds are white to light grey and can indicate the arrival of rain.

