

Using a Colon to Introduce a List

Name: _____

When you are going to make a list of several items, introduce the list with a colon. A colon looks like an extra period stacked on top of a period. You will also see it separating hours from minutes when you write the time. Let's look at an example of how you would use it when you are going to list the things that you need to buy at the grocery store.

When I go to the store, I need to buy the following items: milk, eggs, bread, and peanut butter.

The part of the sentence that comes before the colon should be able to stand on its own as a sentence. Notice that commas are used to separate the items that are being listed.

Use the shopping list below to write sentences about what you will buy.
