EXTENSION ACTIVITIES

1. Research the brain and its functions.

THINK:

Do scientists really know how the brain thinks and solves problems?
How might a person compensate for a serious brain injury?
Can a person in a coma hear what others are saying?
If an entity took control of your brain, could you fight it?

2. Take a stand. Discuss the following with your peers.

THINK:

Intelligent life exists on other planets.
Good always conquers evil.
Every individual is born "good", society and other factors will make an individual evil.
Every individual is capable of changing the world.
It's okay to fail.
Time travel is possible in the future.
Love is powerful and can conquer all.

3. Draw an illustration of IT.
