

READY
Can You Make a Living With a Temper Like That?

To be successfully involved in most jobs and businesses, people need anger management skills. Some people who lack anger management skills believe that they will be able to support themselves even though they can't control their tempers. Here are some of the reasons they believe that they will be able to survive financially as adults. Do you believe their explanations and excuses?

"My boss won't care that much if I blow up now in a while."

"My family will always take care of me... no matter what."

"I'll just go on welfare."

"My gang will take care of me."

"I'll just get another job."

"I'll marry a wealthy person."

"I can just deal drugs."

"I'll just start my own business so I can do what I want."