

Symmetry means you can divide something in the middle and it will be the same on both sides.

Fold the Dragonfly along the dotted lines. Then place the paper on a window so the light shows through. Then trace the other side.