

THE KURNEA TIMES

DARING MOVE BY DYNAMIC ENGLISH TEACHERS.

Today plans were announced for a school shaking year 3 English unit. As from the beginning of Term 3 both 3C1 and 3C2 will become one class, with two teachers. This move has alarmed many in the school, but both Miss Ridge and Mr Crich have assured this reporter that the unit has enormous potential for both groups. The English master was unavailable for comment but was seen shaking his head as he left the school.

TEACHERS COME CLEAN

As the details of this new unit become available to students the terrible plot of the English staff becomes obvious. Hoping that the plan would deceive the honest students of Year 3 teachers have failed to reveal full details. It appears, after careful investigations each student will be expected to complete a worksheet on their chosen novel. When asked for a comment Miss Ridge denied the cover up saying that "I would have told my class in the end".

It does appear at this stage as though students will be allowed to choose who they work with. When asked for her reaction Year 3 spokeswoman Fiona Wilson said "Well yacha expect, their teachers ain't they."

FOOTBALL STAR UNCOVERS ESSAY HORROR.

Star Lurnea footballer Keith Begg today revealed what he has discovered about this new unit. "Well I was talking to Crichie and he was going on nice always, anyway he tells me we all gotta do this essay. Well I abused him but I think he was for real."

TEACHER EXPLAINS NEW SYSTEM.

novels. "Hopefully" he said "everyone will get a book they can enjoy."

MIXED STUDENT REACTION.

Students reacted with surprise at today's announcement of a mixed class. Some remarked that "you still have to work don't ya" while others felt that anything that relieved the boredom had to be better. A typical comment was "it can't get any worse, can it?"

Today Mr Crich explained how this new large class would work. Each student he said would have the choice of about 6 novels to read. This he explained was much better than the old system where the teacher always chose the novels.

BUT SERIOUSLY FOLKS

At the end of this unit of work everyone will be expected to have read a novel (which they can choose), complete a worksheet, and do a common essay. This will use all of your English periods but one, this will be your Journal period.

THE ESSAY

A good story has to have good characters. Talk about the characters in the book/s that you have read. You might like to concentrate on just one character and talk about their role in the book.

This unit is for you to learn from and enjoy. English is meant to be enjoyable. Work hard, enjoy your book and good luck with your first essay.
