

Convert into the Past Tense - Irregular Verbs:

While I (be + walk) _____ down the streets of New York, I (am) _____ overwhelmed by all the things. There (are) _____ so many different people all of whom (be + speak) _____ different languages.

I (choose) _____ to walk down the small streets instead of the big boulevards because I (have) _____ time and I didn't need to (cut) _____ corners.

I (do) _____ many things while I was in New York.

The first thing I (do) _____ was I (go + shop) _____ and (find) _____ presents for my friends and family.

I (go) _____ to a small market in the East village where they (sell) _____ tourist things, like T-shirts and key chains. The shops (be) _____ very expensive and I (have) _____ a (fight) _____ with the shop vendors about how much the things (cost) _____.

In the end we (come) _____ to a compromise and I (leave) _____ feeling satisfied.

After shopping, I was so hungry. I (grab) _____ a cab and we (drive) _____ to Chinatown. I (find) _____ a cheap restaurant and (eat) _____ and (drink) _____ good local food.

There was a lot of construction on the streets and new buildings were being (build) _____ everywhere.

I (catch) _____ a bus to the other end of the city and (watch) _____ the construction from the windows.

After some time in the city, I (begin) _____ to see the city like a New Yorker and not like a tourist. I even (forget) _____ that I was Canadian and (give) _____ someone directions to Madison Square Gardens, although I'm not sure they were right.

When it was time to leave, I (make) _____ my way to the airport.

I (purchase) _____ a cheap flight online and I (can not) _____ bring everything I (buy) _____ back.

I was so tired that I (break) _____ down and cried.

I (be) _____ ready to go home.