

Thesis Statements

Decide if each of the following is true or false about good thesis statements:

1. Thesis statements are given in the introduction.	T	F
2. Thesis statements should not be repeated anywhere else in the essay.	T	F
3. Ideally, a thesis statement should only be one, at most two, lines long.	T	F
4. A good thesis statement is specific rather than general.	T	F
5. Strong thesis statements use language like "I think," "in my opinion".	T	F
6. Strong thesis statements take a position.	T	F
7. The best thesis statements directly address the given task.	T	F

Thesis Statements

Decide if each of the following is true or false about good thesis statements:

1. Thesis statements are given in the introduction.	T	F
2. Thesis statements should not be repeated anywhere else in the essay.	T	F
3. Ideally, a thesis statement should only be one, at most two, lines long.	T	F
4. A good thesis statement is specific rather than general.	T	F
5. Strong thesis statements use language like "I think," "in my opinion".	T	F
6. Strong thesis statements take a position.	T	F
7. The best thesis statements directly address the given task.	T	F

Thesis Statements

Decide if each of the following is true or false about good thesis statements:

1. Thesis statements are given in the introduction.	T	F
2. Thesis statements should not be repeated anywhere else in the essay.	T	F
3. Ideally, a thesis statement should only be one, at most two, lines long.	T	F
4. A good thesis statement is specific rather than general.	T	F
5. Strong thesis statements use language like "I think," "in my opinion".	T	F
6. Strong thesis statements take a position.	T	F
7. The best thesis statements directly address the given task.	T	F