Shopping at the Grocery Store

James: Hi Mr Miller. How are you today?

Mr. Miller: I'm good, thank you, and you?

James: I'm well, thank you. I would like some things from your store. Can you, I would like some of those, eggs, milk, chicken eggs, and also some vegetables. I also need some other things. Do you have any other things that I can buy?

Mr. Miller: Yes, I have. I have some fresh vegetables.

James: Oh, yes, I have a list of things that I want to buy. Can you help me with that?

Mr. Miller: Of course, I do.

James: I'd like to buy some fresh vegetables, like tomatoes, onions, and carrots. I also need some fresh fruit, like apples and oranges.

Mr. Miller: I have all those things. I also have some fresh meat, like chicken and beef. I also have some fresh fish, like salmon and tuna.

James: Oh, yes, I have a list of things that I want to buy. I also need some fresh bread, like white bread and whole wheat bread. I also need some fresh milk, like whole milk and skim milk.

Mr. Miller: Yes, I have all those things. I also have some fresh eggs, like chicken eggs and duck eggs.

James: That's all, thank you. I'll take those things. I also need some fresh fruit, like apples and oranges. I also need some fresh vegetables, like tomatoes, onions, and carrots.

Mr. Miller: Yes, I have all those things. I'll take those things. I also need some fresh bread, like white bread and whole wheat bread.

James: Oh, yes, I have a list.

Mr. Miller: I'll take those things. I'll take those things.

James: Yes, I need some fresh milk, like whole milk and skim milk.
