

The United States Capitol Building

On September 18, 1793, George Washington laid the cornerstones of the United States Capitol Building. The United States Capitol is home of the Congress and the House of Representatives.