

Cardigan's New Shoes

"I need shoes," said Cardigan. "My feet are sore." He went to the shoe shop. "I need blue shoes, please," he said.

"Here you are," said the salesman.

Cardigan put them on. "They're nice," he said. "I'd bought some more."

"Sure?" said the salesman. "There are more like shoes. How about that?"

"I really wanted blue," said Cardigan. He put on the red shoes instead. "I still need more," he said.

"I have red, blue and green," said the man. "How about green?"

"I really wanted red," said Cardigan. He put on the green shoes saying, "Thank you," he said.

Just then, Cardigan's friend came by. "I bought shoes," he said. "Red, blue and green shoes. I want some white socks. Are you there, Cardigan?"

"Yes, I am," he said.

Write "True" if the statement is wrong and "False" if the statement is right in the blank.

1. The cardigan needed shoes. _____
2. The salesman's feet were sore. _____
3. The cardigan went to a supermarket. _____
4. First, the salesman gave the cardigan red shoes. _____
5. Second, the salesman gave the cardigan blue shoes. _____
6. The salesman had green shoes. _____
7. The cardigan and the green shoes are. _____
8. The cardigan's shoes were big. _____
9. The cardigan's friend asked him for shoes. _____
10. The cardigan's friend asked him for the cardigan's. _____

Put these sentences in order.

- a. Cardigan tried the green shoes. _____
- b. Cardigan went to the shoe shop. _____
- c. He needed blue shoes. _____
- d. Cardigan thought that his shoes were too big. _____
- e. Cardigan wanted more red shoes. _____
- f. Cardigan's feet were sore. _____