

Questions from

1. Does Maggie fit, in essence, the mold?
2. Why or why not?
3. The narrator's characterization of Maggie is somewhat different. The phrase "solid like a granite pyramid" is used to describe her.
4. Do you believe you can appreciate and perceive her?
5. What do you think?
6. Maggie is a long-term devotee who follows him, he is the only one who is not.
7. Maggie is the only one who is not. She is the only one who is not.
8. She gets a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
9. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
10. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
11. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
12. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
13. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
14. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
15. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
16. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
17. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
18. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
19. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
20. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
21. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
22. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
23. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.
24. Maggie is a good deal of what she needs from Maggie. She is the only one who is not.