Literature Circle Notes: Connector

Name_____ Date _____

Connector: Your job is to connect what you are reading to yourself, the outside world, or other texts/novels. You can connect the story to events in your own life, news events, political events, popular trends, or what you have learned in school. Another important source of connections is books you've already read. The connections should be meaningful to you and those in your group.

Sample Questions

- What connections can you make to your own life?
- What other places or people could you compare this story to?
- What other books or stories might you compare to this one?
- What other characters or authors might you compare to this one?
- What is the most interesting or important connection that comes to mind?
- How does this section relate to those that came before it?

Directions: Write your discussion questions and connections in this column.

Assignment for Today: page_____- page_____

Directions: Write your responses to your questions and write an explanation and/or discussion of the connections that you made.

Directions: Review, retell, or reflect on what you read so far. (Use the back if necessary.)