

Peer Editing Checklist

Name: _____

Partner: _____

Read through your partner's paper (L2, L3, L4) and look to see that the following things have been completed. Then discuss any changes with your partner. Don't write on your partner's paper.

_____ Do all sentences start with a capital letter?

_____ Do all sentences end with correct punctuation?

_____ Do all names of people, places and pets start with a capital letter?

_____ Are there any spelling mistakes?

_____ Does it make sense?

If you need help, you need to explain to your partner what didn't make sense or what you both changed. If it doesn't make sense to you, it probably isn't going to make sense to your teacher or the class.

Peer Editing Checklist

Name: _____

Partner: _____

Read through your partner's paper (L2, L3, L4) and look to see that the following things have been completed. Then discuss any changes with your partner. Don't write on your partner's paper.

_____ Do all sentences start with a capital letter?

_____ Do all sentences end with correct punctuation?

_____ Do all names of people, places and pets start with a capital letter?

_____ Are there any spelling mistakes?

_____ Does it make sense?

If you need help, you need to explain to your partner what didn't make sense or what you both changed. If it doesn't make sense to you, it probably isn't going to make sense to your teacher or the class.

Peer Editing Checklist

Name: _____

Partner: _____

Read through your partner's paper (L2, L3, L4) and look to see that the following things have been completed. Then discuss any changes with your partner. Don't write on your partner's paper.

_____ Do all sentences start with a capital letter?

_____ Do all sentences end with correct punctuation?

_____ Do all names of people, places and pets start with a capital letter?

_____ Are there any spelling mistakes?

_____ Does it make sense?

If you need help, you need to explain to your partner what didn't make sense or what you both changed. If it doesn't make sense to you, it probably isn't going to make sense to your teacher or the class.