

Latitudes and Longitudes

Read out the sentences and choose the correct answers to fill the blanks:

1. Latitudes and longitudes form a network of _____ lines.
2. The _____ is at latitude of zero degree.
3. Latitudes are imaginary circles _____ to the equator in each hemisphere of the Earth.
4. _____ is an inhabited continent that is entirely south of the Equator.
5. The longitude of the zero degree is called the _____ meridian.
6. The prime meridian is also called as the meridian of _____.
7. _____ is a South American country that takes its name from a line of latitude.
8. Latitudes are _____ of different sizes, whereas longitudes are semi-circles of same size.
9. The Equator divides the Earth into two equal halves called the northern and the southern _____.
10. The Earth's _____ is an imaginary line that connects the north and the south poles and passes through the centre of the Earth.

(Equator, Greenwich, circles, imaginary, prime, parallel, equator, hemisphere, axis, Australia)

- Mark and label the 7 continents on the given world map and draw the lines of Equator, Tropic of cancer, Tropic of Capricorn, Arctic circle and Antarctic circle

