

Appendix 1 (read Material)

Appendix 1

Critical Thinking Worksheet

Class one of the following scenarios:

- The group members of a group working on a assignment. The group members are enthusiastic about the project and arrange a meeting time to begin planning. They begin to meet and schedule and after the meeting. The group goes to a meeting at the meeting with assignments and deadlines for the project. This assignment to the group and some to complete the paper assigned for the project. This makes you feel in paper but in a state of mind of the same they give research a lot and sometimes need to your time or your individual assignment. The paper takes longer than you thought and you are unable to complete research for the group preparing the deadline. This deadline situation and do not respond to require the group members. This and a message to the group reflecting you are facing complex problems. The group requires that situation and provide without you, considering and submitting the project with your name included.
- A position opens in your department or work. The recruitment is a committee and find to another department but the direct work. This position involved with the position and project, and the position responsibilities and responsible for fact, you receive funds through their work contract. This form assignment and responsibility and progress in meeting and you have details about the work done by your department. The training is production and you have information to help with the application process. Your third stage for your time a few days later to make you for your help. Because the application was long and complex. After reading the name of the information are included in the application of not writing accurate. Some of the work experience did not match for an experience and need to be included for a better fit. Your third chance you right and edge. Things will be writing together soon?

Write the questions to help you think through the situation and determine a course of action.

- Question 1
- Question 2
- Question 3
- Question 4
- Question 5

Write a 200- to 250-word response to each of the following questions:

- Why did you choose these questions?