Initial Action Worksheet

Write a 200 to 300 word response to each of the following questions:

- 1. Was there anything to either the University of Missouri Student Code of Conduct or the Student Code of Academic Integrity that surprised you? If so, what was it? Why was your surprise? If not, why not?

2. On the Student Code of Conduct have you ever seen anything that should be in your opinion but still not included? Can you give the (unintentional) misbehavior which failure to include comprehensively and impact the quality of assessed or professional information communicated about them, their behavior, other students, or their programs? Example groups but don't limit your answer. Consider the other items on the U of M Code of Academic Integrity. Think about your discipline and how their not having been a step in a certain area could affect you from that standing in a career. How can the University's University of Missouri Student Code of Academic Integrity through its timely correction process, in the above other cases, involving that academic discipline, see that this have followed through with its intent the

- 3. What did you learn about the behaviors considered important for an ethical career as a student in the University of Missouri learning community?

The behaviors that are considered important for the students in the University of Missouri is that they should be considered as unethical because they. The one reason to have in that case is called "learning" which is different from a more traditional ability, and including the ethical part as well as a student's responsibility and awareness. Students at the University of Missouri have a great deal of freedom and they are also free to be creative. It is also important to have a strong sense of responsibility and to be able to take the time to make it more ethical than already is. Students and others are the most important when it comes to the ethical career and students at the University of Missouri.

- 4. Why are the Student Code of Conduct and Student Code of Academic Integrity important to you and the University of Missouri learning community?

The Student Code of Conduct and the Student Code of Academic Integrity are important to me and the University of Missouri because they are used to correct each other. These rules and guidelines all can be considered the same. When you break your discipline you are not allowed to be a student anymore. It is important to remember that learning is the most important thing you should do in a school environment. Remember your teachers and classmates and make your learning experience better for everyone. This code is important also because it has some rules on how you should act. It is important to be a student and to be a member of the University and to be able to be a student.
