Worker ants looking for food

Ants are insects.

They have a large head, two big eyes strong jaws and long feelers. They have six legs.

The body is in two parts; the thorax where the legs join, and the abdomen.

The ant colony has three different types of ant; the queen, the males and the workers.

The most important ant in the nest is the queen. She is very large and the only one who can lay eggs.

The nest is built by the worker ants.

It is usually underground.

The nest is made up of lots of tunnels that lead into chambers.
