

WHAT IS BLOOD?

Blood is mostly water and cells. It travels around and around your body in tubes large and small. It delivers nutrients and oxygen to all of your cells. It picks up cell wastes and carries them to your lungs and kidneys.

