

paraphrase these sentences:

1. Thank you so much for your help and my grandma it has been much appreciated
2. I am sorry that you are leaving us and Juliet sadly I do hope you will like the new job
3. It's difficult to be sure about what happened the police special to and we shall have to investigate further
4. we shall begin with some related exercises like Jones said in the second half of the lesson I shall want to start something new
5. I'm going in now and John it's too cold for gardening today
6. the children have washed up the breakfast things announced their father now they're going to leave the sitting room
7. I'm off to bed now smiled Ann Marie I've got to be up early in the morning
8. when you've both finished your homework you can play for a little while their mother said I want you in bed by nine o'clock
9. we apologise for the loss of your picture announced Ann food meanwhile we shall have some music
10. your letter came yesterday said the woman it was a great relief