

Integumentary System

Name: _____ Date: _____

Write the name of the contributor in the Integumentary System that best fits the description below.

Integumentary System: Skin, nails, hair, sweat glands and sebaceous glands

Can be used as a tool for prying.

Prevents the body from overheating.

At least one of these is found on each hair follicle.

Has the ability to prevent pathogen invasion via the nose.

Both of these may be over active during adolescence.

Helps to prevent water loss in the body.