

CANDY INTRODUCTION

Candy Introductions brought us together again that helps people learn new facts about each other in an enjoyable, fun way! This project demonstrates a variety of candy that will help people learn more about each other. This game also provides information, including the 50/50 game, Candy Connections, the Candy Quiz, the Candy Quiz game, among others.

Candy Quiz-Questions are available for you. The introduction includes the introduction program in English (1), as if you were never there (1), and the larger group activities for collaborative activities that are used in class. This introduction includes the introduction, and a list of activities that are used in class. All these suggestions are available about the different methods of using the game, and an optional, multi-activity version.

Objectives Candy Introduction

Participants will identify various types of candy, enough for each person to be able to identify the candy. They will be able to identify the candy, and identify the candy. Candy Quiz-Questions are available for you. All these suggestions are available about the different methods of using the game, and an optional, multi-activity version.

Materials (per person)

Participants will identify various types of candy, enough for each person to be able to identify the candy. They will be able to identify the candy, and identify the candy. Candy Quiz-Questions are available for you. All these suggestions are available about the different methods of using the game, and an optional, multi-activity version.

If there is a problem with the introduction, you can find the following:

- Candy - Various types
- Candy - Various types of candy
- Candy - Various types
- Candy - Various types
- Candy - Various types of candy (optional)

If you don't have the candy, you can find the candy. Candy Quiz-Questions are available for you. All these suggestions are available about the different methods of using the game, and an optional, multi-activity version.