

Evolution of the Horse in the Cenozoic

Evolution at the end of the 1800's was thought to be linear, but with more fossils in different locations, the story is more of overlap, radiations and extinctions. As you look at environmental changes, the modern horse evolved to survive changing climate, which could cause food supply to change.

