Subordinating Conjunctions

Subordinating conjunctions are used to join a dependent clause (incomplete thought) to an independent clause.

Common Subordinating Conjunctions

before even though unless once until although if only when in order to whenever as if now that where as long as rather than whereas as though since wherever because so that while still than Example: I will be able to drive when I get older.

"I will be able to drive" → independent clause (complete thought)

"when I get older" → dependent clause (incomplete thought)

The subordinating conjunction "when" is used to join the dependent clause to the independent clause.
