

WHO?

That's the World Health Organization. It considers food poisoning to be one of the greatest problems in the world. Nobody is immune: ill-prepared meat, an old egg or fruit that hasn't been properly washed can make you ill. In some countries the standards of hygiene are such that food and even drinking water are full of germs, and no-one takes any notice!

Quiz

1) What are the symptoms of food poisoning?

- fever stinging eyes vomiting diarrhoea

2) Are all moulds bad?

- Yes No

3) Which meat should be very well cooked?

- beef lamb pork veal

4) Which country has the greatest number of cheeses?

- Holland Spain Morocco France

5) Can you drink spring water in the mountains?

- Yes No

6) Who are most susceptible to food poisoning?

- adults babies older people sick people pregnant women
 adolescents

7) Are germs killed by cold?

- Yes No

8) What are a tapeworm and a liver fluke?

- fungi bacteria parasites viruses

9) Does food contaminated by bacteria always smell bad?

- Yes No