

Post-Test
WRITTEN

Identify the type of irony in each scenario. Dramatic, verbal, and situational.

1. When Laurel went to practice archery, she missed the target every time she shot and she felt like she was a pro. She had been practicing for 10 years. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor.

2. When Laurel went to practice archery, she practiced every day to get better and better. When she went to the archery competition, she missed every shot. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor. "I've been practicing every day for 10 years."

3. When Laurel went to practice archery, she practiced every day to get better and better. When she went to the archery competition, she missed every shot. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor. "I've been practicing every day for 10 years."

4. When Laurel went to practice archery, she practiced every day to get better and better. When she went to the archery competition, she missed every shot. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor. "I've been practicing every day for 10 years."

5. When Laurel went to practice archery, she practiced every day to get better and better. When she went to the archery competition, she missed every shot. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor. "I've been practicing every day for 10 years."

6. When Laurel went to practice archery, she practiced every day to get better and better. When she went to the archery competition, she missed every shot. "That's so difficult," she said to her instructor. "I've been practicing every day for 10 years."
