Pete and Ralphie were exploring last Saturday. Pete carried a net and a bag to put specimens in. Ralphie ran ahead and stuck his nose into a bush searching. Pete followed behind bending to grab a small, red and black, winged critter. Pete looked up, held out his hand, and decided to put on his date borrowed hat and jacket. He tucked the specimen bag under his jacket so it wouldn't get wet.

When the sun came back out and the clouds moved away, Pete and Ralphie sat down for lunch. Pete had a ham sandwich, and Ralphie had a big, juicy steak bone. After lunch was finished, the boys trotted on home and observed their new pet. Later that day, the two played catch while the sun set. Summer was over, and Pete had to get up early tomorrow.
